Dear Madame

I am very grateful for your kind letter. As I no longer see or hear from my dear Pierrot - the greatest pleasure it tends to, from the friends who loved - it is a great privilege & consolation the promises you give me, I wait upon the subject on which my thoughts constantly revolve. He was once present & my friends who in this world for I loved & admired his great Qualities with all my heart.

Her generous love, is not too, that alone which affects me, but the constant remembrance & assurance of not having caused to her whom she loves ill, as well as my not having written (for a trifling cause not worth mentioning) & for which she approached me in the letter before the last. She was anxious to see - and I greatly fear she might think, I failed in the case, which never ceased for a moment for her.
How did I omit her

Many thanks for the

Ely. of my life, for her happiness.

Will you kindly tell me whether you think she received a letter I wrote from London on the 21st of January? & Will you forgive me for something very more selfish I suppose, when I know the affliction she suffers?

We are still staying here & do not go to London for a fortnight.
You will have seen what has taken place in our family.

It was expected had there been a decision will! Cassin's last night the Gov. & W. have been have despondent, but the Debate being adjourned till Monday - gives them a chance of procuring some better in the meantime.

There was a Conservative meeting Saturday, presided by C. J. Dwyer (well attended) at which he insisted on the necessity of a Coalition with Liberals whose opinions might be found to agree (I know some of the Conservatives visited to Gladstone) & well received. Still, one or two Landowners did not reasons above mentioned.

I hope this interesting

I will write to you.

Respectfully Yours
Catherine Schiller. It is kind of me to see you and to let you know that I am still in the same old
position of your true friend.

Yours truly
