Northville - Nov. 30. 1855.

Dear Madame Guizot,

I sent O. Hermann's book where it was published, as specimens - & have to thank you for sending me a little note the trouble of reading. I should be pleased to have one of your newspapers which brings pretty accurately the general impression of the book here. The Saturday Review is by some of our ablest writers.

The Indian Mail brought better news yesterday - he heard from my nephew Sir David Baird - who is with the Commander in Chief, he said the latter was waiting for more troops to take the field - & they expected there a very large force - the weather was likely the favorable battle spirit. They thought the Portuguese would not long hold out against the force that would be.

Sir C. G. G. G.

Mr C. Gifford anticipated having to hand to the relief of Lackmann.

Here there is no record.

I am sorry to say that it seems have been at first - the House of Commons is better on the whole.

Dear Lady Penzance Saturday
He told me the Duke de Galliera has been very ill with small pox, but is now recovering -

Believe me dear Madame Guizot with every remembrance from your devoted servant.

Ever truly yours
