Paris, November 9, 1858.

Dear Madame Guizot,

I am very sorry not to find you in Paris, although I have often hoped to see you there, I should have thought it too cold for the country at present, and the season falling makes it always look dreary at this time of year.

I have written you long to day to bring the book you have promised, the whole of the French edition had been sold out off Carlyle's 'English in the West'.

and I must wait for the R.
I will find an occasion to send it to you. I wish to send M. de Montalambert's which is not the same piece, but I hope to do so in England.

I have been in Paris about 40 days & shall stay for another 40 days, as I have my share with me who have come from Belgium.

I do not have any news from England excepting the reception

by M. Gladstone
I have been in know. I
of the hand
of the Office
let's (Gladstone)
Commission
of the Cabinet is to be made.
the great
the same
at St. James
the visitation
My Lord

by W. Gladstone of the Liberator Island mission, which was already known. My husband complains of too much work - for besides all this Office which is always very great, he is Chairman of the London Committee for the Organization of the Indian Army - & the Cabinet is now to meet 3 times a week. Reform will be the great question.

We were asked to spend 2 days at Windsor last week, but when the invitation came, I was on my road home.

I am staying in this immense hotel - but find it comfortable.
I saw today the M^{rs} Ketchumby who has just come to it. She is suffering from Rheumatism & has O'Haffs to attend her.
M. Schier has been to see me, & I dine there next Tuesday.
I have also seen the M^{rs} de Gallien. The weather is very cold & the East wind still blows.
which gives every one bad colds myself included.
Behind me stands Maximilian Guizot Ever yours truly. Alfred Rob.
