S. W. August 21. 1859.

My dear Madame Guizot.

I have to thank you for your kindness in sending me the Mémorial of the Life of my dear French Lieven, I received it this day.

It having been forwarded to me from London, which was left a few days since.

I have read it with pleasure, I am very much obliged of your recollection, and gratified to be associated in your memory with me we could do much. I tried to thank you also for the letter you kindly wrote to me, but I feared to give details worthy of sanding. But I was afraid of troubling you with a letter in return.

The Parliament closed after an unfruitful session spent in party strife - each trimming in accordance with the views they thought most likely to carry them through, and the first move, & that policy, had no share in the transaction -

Those who compose it, are as far from ~~admission~~ of talent - but it is difficult to see what their tactics will be next Session, for they do not seem actually to possess a majority in either H. of Parl.

We have then advantage in being in Union in our Camp & all I wish for is, that we may use that in understanding the Enchiridion in any shape,

What do you think will be the end of the Italian Complication?
The impression still exists, that by some means we shall finally be drawn into war & therefore being about an attack upon ourselves, there are told that that is the popular in France. Please send
