West Molesey
Surrey
25th May 48

My dear Sir

May I ask you give me any instructions about Tschernau & his Revue Retrospective. He is I suppose the son of the scide of Robespierre - I know he is an acquaintance of Lord Brangham's, who once presented him to me - pardon the phrase, but I assure you I was not presented to him.

He says in the first numbers of this review that he made a similar publication in 1830. I have forgotten it. Can you tell me any thing about it?

It seems to me a great meaness in the Prov. Govt.
to allow the publication.
Hitherto it does no harm to any one except Mlle de Windworth & M. Solvandy.
& I almost suspect that there is more of benveillance than of malveillance towards the

the king & you
the working govern. men.
have been penitler. me delicate of Revere has had a strong over that d
his recipient your private remove all super paper
ask you abo
the letter Mentioning do

the King & you - for, surely, in the working of a representative government there must have been in your portfolio many much more delicate affairs than the Revue has revealed. He had a story before you came over that La Martine on his accession to office told your private secretary to remove all your private letters - I forgot to ask you about that fact.
The letter of the Pap Chmentine does her honour

& all that comes out is creditable to the whole family but the principle of a Government countenancing the plunder & publishing of private papers seems to me very reprehensible. Shall I treat it? I wish to act as may be most conducive to the suppression of scandals.

What right has the Government (for no doubt it is an act of the Government) to give these papers to M.
Trenchard - Is he not a representative? & is it a mischance or bribe? In point

16
point of corruption that reference is there in giving 5000 francs & a bundle of papers that fetch 5000 fr.
If the government thought the public portion (if any be public) of the papers ought to be published for the public service, they ought to have done it openly & not under false pretences - which I believe M. Tucheran's account of them to be.

Yours with smile at Moler's complaints to the King of Sloveny

to be ready in the last from livraison.

Have you heard that Thiers is ~~just~~ about to publish a pamphlet in favour of the Council de Paris & the Dfs of Orleans as Regent - that is, a Regent over whom Mr. Thiers may be the Regent.

Adieu
