

Lettre d'Eugène Lee-Hamilton à Matilda Paget - 28 Mai 1871

Auteurs : Lee-Hamilton, Eugene

Information générales

LangueAnglais

CoteVernon Lee Archive, Miller Library, Colby College, ME

Nature du documentLettre manuscrite autographe signée

CollationPapier; 3 pages

SupportPapier

Etat général du documentMauvais

Localisation du documentVernon Lee Archive, Miller Library, Colby College, Waterville, Maine, USA

Les folios

En passant la souris sur une vignette, le titre de l'image apparaît.

3 Fichier(s)

Les mots clés

Commune de Paris

Dossier génétique

Ce document n'a pas de relation indiquée avec un autre document du projet.□

Citer cette page

Lee-Hamilton, Eugene, Lettre d'Eugène Lee-Hamilton à Matilda Paget - 28 Mai 1871, 1871-05-28. Holographical-Lee, Sophie Geoffroy, Université de La Réunion ; projet EMAN (Thalim, ENS-CNRS-Sorbonne nouvelle). Consulté le 02/09/2025 sur la plate-forme EMAN : <https://eman-archives.org/HoL/items/show/1941>

Texte & Analyse

Analyse

Amb. d'Ang.

17 Rue des Reservoirs

Versailles

May 28 . 71

Sunday evening

My little darling,

I have only just time to dash thee off a line to save the Post. This morning while dressing I received a Telegram from Alfred Turner, saying the Fort of Ivry had blown up and that he was horribly anxious as to the fate of the Maison de Santé in which his brother and uncle are. So I immediately, with Lord Lyons' concurrence hired a carriage, after procuring the necessary safe conduct, and drove across country to Ivry. I am happy to say I found the Maison de Santé uninjured, and saw both patients who were quite well. The drive there and back lasted about six or seven hours, all along the position held by the Prussians during the Siege, and through one shattered village after the other. The destruction is indescribable. All the houses of all the villages being reduced to the condition of the Palace of the Caesars à peu près. Every wall is loopholed, and german inscriptions in chalk on all the doors. I have no time to write more to say. I fear this will reach Rome after thy departure.

A thousand loves

Thy E.

I telegraphed of course result of my visit to Mr Turner

Auteur(s) de la transcriptionGeoffroy, Sophie

Auteur transcriptionGeoffroy, Sophie

Présentation

Date1871-05-28

GenreCorrespondance

Mentions légales

- Document : Courtesy of Special Collections and Archives, Colby College Libraries, Waterville, Maine
- Fiche : Holographical-Lee, Sophie Geoffroy, Université de La Réunion ; projet EMAN (Thalim, ENS-CNRS-Sorbonne nouvelle). Licence Creative Commons Attribution – Partage à l'Identique 3.0 (CC BY-SA 3.0 FR)

Editeur de la ficheHolographical-Lee, Sophie Geoffroy, Université de La Réunion ; projet EMAN (Thalim, ENS-CNRS-Sorbonne nouvelle)

Informations éditoriales

Destinataire Paget, Matilda

Couverture Versailles, France

Notice créée par Sophie Geoffroy Notice créée le 08/07/2021 Dernière modification le 10/10/2021

---

Mo. NC

Aub. d'Ang.

17 Rue des Reservoirs
Versailles

Sunday evening May 28. 71

My little darling,

I have only just time to dash this off a line to save the Post. This morning while dressing I received a telegram from Alfred Turner, saying the Fort of Ivory had blown up and that he was horribly anxious as to the fate of the maison de santé in which his brother and uncle are. So I immediately, with Lord Lyons' concurrence hired a carriage, after procuring the necessary Safe Conduct, and drove across Country to Ivory <sup>all the</sup> I am happy to say I found the Maison de Santé uninjured, and saw both patients who were quite well. The drive there and back lasted about six or seven hours, all along the positions held by the Prussians during the Siege, and through one shattered village after the other. The destruction is indescribable

all the houses of all the villages being reduced to the condition of the Palace of the Caesars à peu près.

Every wall is loopholed, and German inscription in chalk on all the doors. I have no time to write more today.

I fear this will reach Rome after my departure.

A thousand loves

My E. —

Of course I telegraphed result of my visit to the Turners. —