1. *On the 1st of October, 1863, I arrived at the head of the Cotton River, and met with a large number of Confederate prisoners, who had been captured by the Union forces in the battle of Cotton River, and had been taken to the head of the river
by the Union
forces
to be transported
to the Union
army
in
interior
of
the State.*

Received from Mr. J. M. Jones, 1854.

1. The present is the first time that the author has written a book of this kind, and he has done so with a great deal of care and attention to detail, in order to give the reader a clear and accurate picture of the present state of the world.
2. The present is a picture of the world as it is at the present time, and it is based on the author's own observations and researches, as well as on the information provided by various sources, including the United Nations and the World Bank.
