The provisions of the law are as follows: The first clause of the law provides that if the President shall be impeached by the House of Representatives, he shall be removed from office and disqualified from holding any office of honor or trust under the United States. The second clause provides that the Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. The third clause provides that the President shall be tried by the Senate. The fourth clause provides that the President shall be removed from office and disqualified from holding any office of honor or trust under the United States. The fifth clause provides that the President shall be tried by the Senate. The sixth clause provides that the President shall be removed from office and disqualified from holding any office of honor or trust under the United States. The seventh clause provides that the President shall be tried by the Senate.
